Section 1

Reading and Comprehension

The following text is a short story from an American magazine. Read it carefully, and then answer the questions about it.

My Parking Lot War

1 As I drove my blue Buick into the garage under my apartment house, I saw that old yellow Oldsmobile was parked too close to my space-again. "Why does that driver always crowd me in?" I asked myself.

2 To squeeze my car into the narrow spot remaining between the yellow Oldsmobile and a big cement column, I had to maneuver back and forth several times. That left hardly enough room to open the door.

3 Then, one day I arrived home first, and just as I turned off my Buick's engine, the yellow Oldsmobile entered its space-too close to my car as usual. At last I had a chance to meet the driver.

My patience had run out, and besides, I had a cold and a headache, and I'd just received a letter from the tax office telling me I owed them more money.

4 I looked angrily at the driver of the yellow Oldsmobile and shouted, "Can't you see you're not leaving me enough space? You've got plenty of room. Park over there!"

5 The driver glared back. "Just stop it! That's enough." she shouted, banging open her door into mine. "Who do you think you are? The queen of Sheba?"

Throwing her head back she walked slowly out of the garage.

6 "OK," I said to myself, "I'll let you see what it is like." The next time I entered the garage and Yellow Oldsmobile wasn't there, I parked so close to her side that she had to park right next to a cement column on her right.

7 Still, each time Yellow Oldsmobile got home first, she parked too close to my side. A few times I left my car parked on the street rather than go through the hassle of trying to squeeze it into the narrow space.

8 Then one day, after I had bent the Buick's side mirror trying to get past the cement column, I laid my head on the steering wheel. "This can't keep going on," I prayed. "What can I do?"

9 I soon found an answer. The next time the woman got to her car, she discovered an envelope on her windshield. The note inside read:

Dear Yellow Oldsmobile,

I'm sorry my mistress bumped into your mistress the other day. You know how crazy those humans can act. She's been sorry about it ever since. I know because she doesn't sing anymore while driving. It wasn't like her to scream like that. Fact is, she'd just got bad news in the mail and was taking it out on you two.

I hope you and your mistress will forgive her.

Your neighbor, Blue Buick

10 When I went down the garage next morning, the Oldsmobile was gone, but there was an envelope on my car’s windshield. I opened it up and read the message inside:

Dear Blue Buick,

My mistress gets upset too. The reason she parked so crazily was that she just learned to drive. We will park much farther over after this. I’m glad we can be friends now. My mistress is glad you wrote. She would like to be friends too.

Your neighbor, Yellow Oldsmobile

11 I couldn’t help laughing as I started the engine. After that, whenever Blue Buick passed Yellow Oldsmobile on the road, they greeted each other with a special horn honk (two shorts and a long), while their drivers waved cheerfully and smiled.
